As of April 9th 1995, following the CIA's declassification of documents relating to Remote Viewing and the STARGATE program, all funding for such programs has been revoked.

It has been brought to my attention that you have tried to either successfully or unsuccessfully re-establish a Stargate type of program in the Washington State area utilizing Civilian Subjects.

While these subjects may be classified as 'volunteers', it is my office's belief that your program violates our objectives and you are therefore ordered to immediately cease and desist all activities related to revitalizing Stargate, Dream Lab, and/or Remote Viewing.

Definition(s):

A Dream State Program using psychoenergetics for intelligence applications. Specifically, utilizing that field of psychoenergetics referred to as REMOTE VIEWING.

Remote viewing is a practice or phenomenon where individuals claim to gather information about a distant or unseen target, typically using extrasensory perception (ESP) or "anomalous cognition." In remote viewing, the viewer attempts to perceive details about a target that is hidden from physical view, often without any prior knowledge or information about the target.
